Recommendation Letter

Dear Sir or Madam:

I, Peoneemoull Pech, wish to provide full support for Elizabeth Brown, who I had the honor of working with multiple times. As a self-taught photographer for 4 years, I've worked in Los Angeles, Paris, Boston, and New York independently which had let me work on projects with known celebrities and magazines such as Vogue Brazil, L'Officiel, Nylon, and many more.

I heard great things about Elizabeth from a stylist. Viewing her work for the first time earlier this year, I was astonished by her work. She has the ability to produce looks for womenswear and men's though her designs in a special approach. Not only her creative style caught my eye but the mindset she has into making her ideas come to life as well. Her hard work and dedication always end up into a beautiful masterpiece as a whole for a shoot. Our team can count on her and see a true passion.

Being that she has accomplished many so early on in her career, it is without a doubt that she is deemed to be a great designer. I eagerly await our next encounter and look forward to seeing her career continue to reach new audiences around the world.

Please do not hesitate to contact me with any further questions.

Sincerely,

letter of recommendation

Dear sir or madam,

My name is Gloria Johnson; I am a stylist from New York City. I have been styling for quite some time now. I graduated from the Fashion Institute Of Technology. I am a high end stylist who styled a major show Flying Solo as the head stylist of over 98 models , 45 and 235 looks. I work with known celebrities over the US and magazines internationally such as VOUGUE, ELLE, NYLONMAGAZINE, L'OFFICIEL and many more.

I met Elizabeth Brown who was one of the designers flying solo. During the show I took a special interest in her collection. Elizabeth is not only an amazing designer, kind human being but an asset to the fashion community in America.

I have the honor to work with her on her 2019 2020 spring summer campaign collection! In my opinion her brand will be one of the top brands before very long. She is extremely business savvy as well as innovative. She was was a finalist at the CFDA and Swarovski. Her line not only assumes cultural boundaries, as well as ageless amazing innovative breathtaking design. Her designing aesthetic is like watching a painter create a masterpiece.

in my opinion she is absolutely the best candidate. After working with her and seeing hew mind working she is a great treasure to the world and she can take any idea and make it real.

Sincerely,

Gloria Johnson

High end fashion stylist.

RE: Elizabeth Brown

Dear Sir or Madam:

My name is Raz Keren and I am a designer with over 20 years of experience running my namesake fashion label; Teaching at the Fashion BFA program at Parsons the New School of Design for the past fifteen years, and recently the creative director of my multi-media company Zeev Media.

I have met Elizabeth over two years ago, starting her junior year at the Fashion Design program when she was my student. From the beginning she stood out as a unique design talent and a creative thinker. Her talent to transform research into imaginative pieces of clothing is impressive. Elizabeth is also an artist that flourishes in various fields, costume design and couture, womenswear and men's.

I am personally familiar with Elizabeth's extraordinary potential. She came finalist of the CFDA 2017 competition and Swarovski partnership 2018. She presented her collections at New York Fashion Week in 2018, and 2019, and will be presented in Paris Fashion Week soon. Her drive and sense of business brought her to join Flying Solo's store and Showroom in SoHo, New York.

In my opinion, Elizabeth Brown is an outstanding fashion designer, and I trust she will be successful in any endeavour she choose to explore.

Sincerely,

Raz Keren

Dear Sir or Madam:

I, Elizabeth Solomeina, wish to offer my full support and insight for Miss. Elizabeth Brown. I am the Co-founder & Managing Director of Flying Solo, an international fashion platform for designers and a boutique located in Soho, Manhattan. I began my career working for large corporations like Art Lebedev Design studio for 13 years as a designer and an art director. I am also the owner of my own brand Solomeina which I launched in 2013. I came up with the idea for Flying Solo to allow designers to share in the responsibilities of running and managing the store and to work together to gain an audience and clientele and build the brand. Flying Solo is based on the idea that fashion should be team effort and beneficial to all parties involved with a real focus on the designer having a voice in how their brand is showcased, how they are presented to the media and consumers as well as how the brand makes money ensuring sustainability. Flying Solo sells runway pieces (clothing), one of a kind (jewelry/accessories) or limited production pieces. Currently, Flying Solo is known as a platform that provides resources for fashion designers in Prime SOHO where designers can sell directly to the customers or big pull of stylists that frequently come to Flying Solo to pick up pieces for fashion magazine editorials and celebrities. We have grown as an entity that has an influence over the fashion industry being part of New York Fashion Week event under Flying Solo's name and Flying Solo has been recognized by the international press including The New York Times, WWD, WGSN, New York Magazine, Nylon, Vogue and Harper's Bazaar.

I have worked with Elizabeth Brown closely and affirm her extraordinary skills. For her latest collection.

Elizabeth Brown is a smart, highly efficient designer and creative director who is not afraid to take initiative and drive projects through her work. Elizabeth has developed legendary clothing patterns, prints, proving herself to be a truly genius patternmaker and fashion designer. Her work was also highly sought after by global media. Over the last several years, her design work has been featured in several international fashion magazines including twice at Vogue Italia, L'officiel, Elegant Magazine, Schon and many more. She has been a finalist for 2 international competitions and has dressed known people such as Miss Universe 2018 Catriona Grey. Since her career as a Fashion Designer, Elizabeth Brown has built an international reputation as one of the most extraordinary designers and I believe she will continue her leading role in the world of fashion design.

I am confident that Elizabeth will prove as an asset to the fashion industry.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth Solomeina
